Folks --

In anticipation of our conference call tomorrow, I am attaching for your consideration a redlined version of the proposed First Amendment to Order on Consent that we received from EPA on June 20. We have previously touched on the vast majority of the issues that are reflected in the proposed revisions to the document. There are some issues that are new, however, given the different approach that the parties are using in terms of amending the 2009 Consent Order rather than developing a new stand-alone version of the Consent Order.

As I previously indicated, Steve Rahaim does not expect to be able to join the call but we anticipate that both Andrew Hartten and Kathy Davis will be participating. I also understand that EPA's technical team will be participating in the discussions. To use our collective time as productively as possible, I suggest that we focus our discussions in the first instance on the scope of work that I forwarded to Jacque on June 26 and the proposed version of Paragraph 42 of the Consent Order (which covers the various work elements under the Consent Order). We can then tackle other elements of the proposed First Amendment to Order on Consent as time and energy allow.

I look forward to a productive conference call tomorrow.

Best regards.

Michael
